

27 March '63

Draft requested by Exec. Dir.

1. In line with the regrouping and consolidation currently underway for the establishment of the DD/I All-Source Center, NPIC will likewise take steps necessary to provide better photographic intelligence support to the new All-Source Center.
2. The mission of the National Photographic Interpretation Center is as follows:
"The National Photographic Interpretation Center is charged with producing photographic interpretation reports, providing photographic intelligence services in support of the national intelligence effort, furnishing such additional support to departmental and Agency interests as can be provided without degradation of national responsibilities, and promoting an integrated and coordinated interdepartmental effort in the exploitation of photography for intelligence purposes."
3. As of _____ no further dissemination of dupe negative or dupe positive material will be made to DD/I components except under emergency conditions and as directed by the DD/I. Print dissemination will also be restricted except as required to illustrate photo interpretation reporting, briefing, or consultation.
4. As of _____ all rolls of dupe negative or dupe positive material now held at Langley will be returned to NPIC.
5. NPIC is prepared to service all Agency needs for film and photo viewing either of a national or departmental nature. Space will be provided as required to accommodate agency requestors needing to view photographic products--- either of a short term nature such as for requirement preparation or for a

CIA/PID (NPIC)
CHART	[Signature]	X
D/CH		X
IPO		X
ABCS
GMB
IB MEB
SS
STC/PID		X

long term project such as the GCR/AMS map project

6. Agency components will continue to be supplied as needed, for meetings and consultation, with direct PI support in the form of personnel, photo products, and photointerpretation equipment. It is suggested that such service can be more expeditiously furnished within NPIC but, where such meetings and consultations cannot convene at NPIC such services will be made available at Langley.